

Promise in Action June 2026

Dear {{Informal Name}},

It has been a busy — and wonderful — spring for Family Promise of Davie County! We are grateful for so many opportunities to connect with community leaders, partners, supporters, and families throughout our county and beyond.

NC Housing Day & Senator Steve Jarvis

I had the opportunity to participate in NC Housing Day in Raleigh alongside advocates from Habitat for Humanity of North Carolina, the NC Housing Coalition, the North Carolina Community Land Trust Network, the NC Coalition to End Homelessness, and many other organizations from across the housing and homelessness sectors. Nearly 170 advocates met with state legislators to reinforce a shared message: affordable housing matters, and North Carolina has a critical role to play in ensuring families have a safe, stable place to call home. We appreciated the productive conversation with Senator Steve Jarvis and look forward to welcoming him to our family center soon!

Lunch & Learn with Davie County Faith Leaders

We enjoyed hosting more than 35 local faith leaders for a Lunch & Learn focused on Family Promise updates, future plans, and the importance of our continued partnership with the faith community.

KidsFest

It was a joy to connect with more than 250 families during this fun, family-centered community event!

Davie County Employee Wellness Fair

We always appreciate the opportunity to connect with our friends and neighbors from Davie County and share more about the work of Family Promise.

Rotary Club of Mocksville

The Mocksville Rotarians continue to be an incredibly generous and service-minded group. We are so thankful to count them among our valued friends and community partners!

Farmington Ruritan Club

Board members Julie Marklin and Beth Edwards enjoyed joining the Farmington Ruritan Club to share Family Promise updates over a delicious chicken and dumplings meal. We are also excited for our guest families to enjoy painting the beautiful birdhouse gifted by the club!

With deep gratitude --

Stephanie

NC residents to go hungry, counties to pay more for SNAP under federal changes

by Lynn Bonner, May 12, 2026
NC Newsline

Massive changes to the food benefits program called SNAP have forced more people who already struggle to maintain stable lives to report work hours if they need federal support to eat.

Former foster youth, some people who are homeless and some military veterans must show they are working, volunteering or attending training programs for at least 80 hours a month to receive food benefits under the federal “One Big Beautiful Bill Act” spending and tax cut package passed last year.

The law also raises the age limit for people who must meet work requirements and shifts more of the cost of the federal program onto state and county governments.

Lindsey Haynes-Maslow, a professor at UNC-Chapel Hill who has studied SNAP and nutrition, said she’s worried about how SNAP recipients — especially veterans without diagnosed disabilities, people experiencing homelessness, and former foster youth – will be able to navigate the new requirements to keep federal aid that helps them buy food.
